I. La Tomatina - The World's Biggest Food Fight Each year, on the last Wednesday of August, about 10,000 people converge to the Spanish town of Buñol. Fireworks light the sky and people celebrate with parties on the streets with wine and traditional paella. Music plays and people dance, but they are there for one thing only - to throw about 7million kilos of sticky, squishy tomatoes. At midday, a lot of trucks carry the red fruit into the main Town Square. A few hours later, the town square magically returns to normal. II Cooper's Hill Cheese Rolling People celebrate this festival on the last weekend in May in Gloucestershire, England. The race begins when the master of ceremonias violently throws a piece of cheese down a hill. All the competitors then throw themselves down the hill after the cheese. The winner keeps the cheese. Children can't take part in the competition, but there are a few uphill races, one for boys under 12 and one for girls. They are slower, but entertaining as well!	III The Battle of Oranges Ivrea's carnival, in Italy, is one of the most famous in the world because of the Battle of Oranges. People throw oranges at each other and oranges fly everywhere. It takes place in early January and lasts for 5 days, from Thursday to Tuesday, with several parades and events, a lot of parties, food events, and music in the streets every day. IV The Festival of the Pig On the second Sunday of August, in the small village of Trie Sur Baise, center of the largest pig area in France, people celebrate a very strange festival. There are piglet races, a pork sausage-eating contest, and a competition for the best pig outfit. There's music and dancing, but the most important event of the day is the national pig imitation competition.
